Church Leadership Connection

The Call System for the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.)

Pacific Presbyterian Church is a community of Christ's people:
Who love all God's creation unconditionally,
Who worship God and pray together, and
Who serve God's people by sharing our resources for the good of all.

What is the congregation's or organization's vision for ministry:

Pacific Presbyterian Church strongly believes in God's call to, "Love one another." We have a long-standing and continuing history of mission to our community, especially in the area of hunger. We collect food during Sunday worship for the Agape Help House in town which was originally started and housed at Pacific Presbyterian. Every week during the school year we host a Dinner With Us providing a hot meal for anyone wanting food and fellowship. We buy and pack Weekend Backpack food for 30 children who may otherwise go hungry without the free/reduced cost lunch program on Saturday and Sunday. We sponsor a Stone Soup Garden on our property which grows produce during the summer offered freely to the community. We have made it a children's project to support Heifer International during Lent to buy animals for needy participants in other countries to raise for income. Besides hunger programs, our church has been a resource center for supplies needed after flooding in our area. Our building hosts Scout groups, a cardmaking club, and serves as a polling place for elections. We would like to continue these programs into the future and expand our services as the need and our resources allow to help more people.

How do you feel called to reach out to address the emerging needs of your community or constituency:

After an exegesis in the Pacific community which Pacific Presbyterian Church conducted as part of our mission study in 2018, we brainstormed ideas to build relationships between others in the community and our church. Expanding our food ministry to include a summer feeding program in which the food would be available through mobile sites is one idea. Having more programs in the building such as classes and support groups was proposed. We need to be more physically visible in the community. Advertising our worship services and other programs through social media more effectively and engaging with civic organizations in the area are being explored. More subdivisions are planned in the area, and we have discussed partnering with realtors to be able to deliver welcome baskets promoting the community and our church. We would love to have more young families with children again. We have many families in the community where the grandparents on fixed incomes are raising their grandchildren. A support group for these neighbors could be helpful. Maybe homework help during Dinner With Us when we have many children here would be a possibility. We have many ideas and are limited only by the number of volunteers we have available.

How will this position help you to reach your vision and mission goals:

New pastoral leadership, good organization and communication along with an outward focus can offer boundless expanded opportunities for Pacific Presbyterian Church to do God's work. Pacific Presbyterian's three greatest assets are our lay leadership, mission work and our financial assets. Our lay leadership is amazing. We have willing, eager and capable individuals with the readiness to serve in whatever capacity they can. Our successful Yoking relationship with First Presbyterian Church of Union has been a real blessing which is working well and which we want to continue. To this end we are seeking a yoked pastor with Union. Our mission work has enabled us to reach many in the community, and our financial assets have helped us give generously to the needs of others. We have a limited number of people to call on to volunteer for positions in the church due to advancing age/health or prior commitments to committee work, mission work or outside obligations. When assessing the prospects for future growth, we must be realistic about the demographic make-up of the congregation as well as willingness or capacity to change.

Provide a description of the characteristics needed by the person who is open to being called to this congregation and or organization:

Although active teaching and conducting inspiring worship services may be a pastor's prime focus, other skills are important. A pastor who has relationship skills, a good sense of humor, is open to and sensitive to diverse views, and is comfortable with people in groups and individually are good assets. Some homebound congregants want to feel closely connected to the pastor with more of a desire to be "known" by the pastor than other groups. We need someone to demonstrate leadership by helping to shape our vision in conjunction with our active lay leaders. Being well organized and able to delegate will help in getting things done. We have great building facilities so ideas on how we can better manage them to serve our community would be helpful. As a yoked pastor, it is important that he/she have energy and enthusiasm for being yoked, for participating in activities and community endeavors in both towns and for modeling servanthood. With these connections, the pastor can guide us in exploring community needs that the church may address through ministry. And in all things, to express Pacific Presbyterian Church's values of nurturing spirituality by cultivating relationships through friendship and fellowship.

What specific tasks, assignments, and program areas will this person have responsibility?

Church Leadership Connection

The Call System for the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.)

The Pastor called to this position would be expected to provide a biblically based teaching ministry that demonstrates creativity, sensitivity, and models a personal relationship with God. She/he should demonstrate an openness to diverse views and have excellent communications skills. The position requires preparing for and conducting worship services for both congregations each Sunday, as well as special services throughout the year, some of which are offered jointly with both congregations attending. The Pastor would be expected to provide general administrative leadership to staff, Session, and church members including participation in the hiring, supervision, and evaluation of three staff members. He/she would prepare agendas for and moderate the monthly Session meetings for each congregation and monitor the work of the committees responsible for the various aspects of our church life, participating as much as possible. The Pastor would be expected to facilitate communications through the church family - supervising the update and maintenance of the church website and Facebook page, the preparation of a monthly newsletter, the weekly worship bulletin, and notices of events or situations that arise. It is important for the Pastor to participate reasonably in church activities and model servanthood. Our congregations are very involved in community outreach programs and would expect the support of the Pastor as we continue these missions.

Mission Statement (of yoked church).

Worshipping and serving God

Loving and accepting all

1. What is the congregation's or organization's vision for ministry?

We, as a church, are living out our mission, "Worshipping and Serving God, loving and accepting all." We serve a weekly community dinner joined by another local church and Kiwanis. In 2017, 4,282 meals were served of which we served 2,194. Our church also hosts a food pantry, not associated with our church. Last year 80,327 items were distributed to 11 780 families. We were designated a Hunger Action Congregation in 2017.

2. How do you feel called to reach out to address the emerging needs of your community or constituency?

We have discussed outreach to seniors who are relocating to large senior development housings in Union. We are considering reaching out to them with food and game nights, using our van to take them to community events, and hosting movie nights at the church.

The church band draws students from East Central College. We show them interest at church but also attend their concerts and performances elsewhere. Through that interest, we hope to encourage their personal and spiritual growth.

We share our facilities with several organizations: CASA, Delta Kappa Gamma, and a foster parents group. We are presently in dialog with a group planning to open a foster children's closet.

3. How will this position help you to reach your vision and mission goals?

We see the pastor as a liaison between the church and local community. We have previously helped in inner city work and gone to sites after disasters. A pastor with similar passion is desired.

4. Provide a description of the characteristics needed by the person who is open to being called to this congregation and or organization.

There are several personal attributes we find most important to our church and ministry. The pastor should be well-organized, collaborative, enthusiastic, compassionate, flexible, a participator, and most importantly models a Christ-centered life. Our pastor needs to be a "people person".
